Narrator: Listen to a conversation between a student and an employee at the facilities management office.

Student: Hi, I'm here to report a problem with my dorm room.

Employee: Okay, what's the issue?

Student: The heating system isn't working properly. It's freezing in my room, even when the thermostat is turned up.

Employee: I see. Can you give me your room number and building?

Student: It's room 205 in Maple Hall.

Employee: Alright, I've got it. When did you first notice the problem?

Student: It started yesterday evening. I thought it might just be a temporary issue, but it's still not working this morning.

Employee: Okay, I'll create a work order for the maintenance team. They should be able to take a look at it within the next 24 hours.

Student: Great, thank you. Is there anything I need to do in the meantime?

Employee: Not really. Just make sure the area around the heating unit is clear so the maintenance team can access it easily. We'll notify you when they're on their way.

Analysis   ✕

[brief]   [comprehensive]

Correct Answer: B

The student's primary purpose for visiting the facilities management office is to confirm a room reservation he made earlier, which is indicated by his statement about expecting confirmation for an auditorium booking at Marston Hall for an upcoming event. He is concerned because he has not yet received the expected confirmation email. This directly aligns with option B. Additionally, the dialogue reveals the employee's acknowledgment of being behind on sending out confirmation emails due to previous computer issues, further substantiating that the student's intent is to verify the reservation status.

Option A is incorrect because, while the student is identified as being from the technology help desk and there is mention of computer problems, he does not visit to service computers. Instead, this becomes relevant as he offers to assist with the issue after addressing his own concern. Option C is incorrect because the student is not attempting to add an additional room; instead, he aims to verify the change from the initially reserved smaller conference room to the larger auditorium to accommodate more attendees. Option D is incorrect because the student does not visit to warn about new computer problems. Although technical issues are discussed, these concerns arise organically during the conversation as the employee experiences a computer malfunction, leading the student to volunteer his help.
